THE JESUIT FATHER IN CHINA.

A Fearfully Narrow, Barren Life and Its Mental Effects.

Up summer and winter before sunrise, he reads the matins and his day's work is often done, says Blackwood's Magazine. Sometimes he reads the angelus and vespers; usually they are undertaken by the native catechist. Perhaps in the course of the long morning Ah San or Ah Si will present himself and pour forth complaint about a buffalo and a trampled padi field; or he may be called to adjudicate in what should be an action for a divorce. Sometimes of a morning he sallies forth, his yellow pigtail coiled around his head and an enormous satchel slung across his back, with a store of iron shot and wadding for his rickety muzzle loader, and if he is lucky will bring back a pigeon or two, or even a pheasant, to supplement the inevitable pork or fowl and rice.

The mail comes in once a fortnight and a day slips by unnoticed, thanks to home letters and a dozen numbers of La Croix, where, squeezed between the latest miracle and the life of some worthy saint, the doings of the outer world may be found recorded in a ten line notice on "a l' Etranger."

Sometimes an afternoon is whiled away in curing the rank tobacco of the place or in brewing rice wine or malt beer—because ten years of solitude have taught him to do things for himself—and when he has no such pastime on hand, he gets through the day absorbed as one hopes in his little mediæval library of religious books—lives of the saints and sermons and essays.

Then is it wonderful that even a mind as broad and gentle as his should in constant journeyings on the one road have worn a rut for itself, deep sunk and gloomy as the traffic channeled paths of the loess land in the north, till, when a rare glimpse of the outside world does break upon his view, his dazzled eyes can see nothing but trees walking, schismatics and Freemasons, Jews and atheists, spiritualism and table turning, with the fiend himself in a fiery cloud over all?

A Box Car.

It is probable that in spite of the fact that one-twentieth of the population of this country is dependent to a large extent upon railways for the money it has to spend but very few people know much about the cost of railway transportation. For instance, there are few business men who can say what the cost of an ordinary box car is or how much it costs its owner a year. As a matter of fact such a car costs about $500. The wear and tear which has to be repaired costs on an average about $20 a year. The average life is 18 years, and at the end of this time the car will be worth about $80 for scrap, so the annual cost for renewal, or the annual sinking fund, will be about $25. The railway owning the car has to maintain shops to repair its rolling stock and that of other roads, and it is probably about correct to estimate the wear and tear of tools while repairing the car at $4. It has generally been the custom to add 10 per cent to bills for work done for outside parties as compensation for the use of tools, or a little more than the estimate of $4 made above. Taxes will add another $4 to the annual cost of a car, and interest at 6 per cent adds $30 more. Hence it will be seen that the annual cost of a box car to the owner is about $83. If the car is assumed to be in the shop 30 days, it will be in service 335 days, and its cost per day of service is nearly 25 cents. A flat or gondola car costs about $450 originally, and a similar series of estimates will show that its annual cost is about $75, and its daily cost about 22.4 cents for the time it is out of the shops.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Eastern Africa.

Professor Angelo Heilprin, the distinguished physicist, indorses the statement made by Dr. Gregory of the British museum that there exists in eastern Africa, occupying a very considerable portion of its extent, a narrow and in places a very deep trough, in which the great lakes and many of their tributaries are located, and which, with a more or less open and depressed lowland, communicates with the basin of the Red sea, and yet further with the Dead sea and to the valley of the Jordan—that is, according to Dr. Gregory, there runs from Lebanon, and then almost to the cape, a deep and comparatively narrow valley, margined by almost vertical sides, and occupied either by the sea, by salt steppes and old lake basins, and by a series of over 20 lakes, of which only one has an outlet to the sea—a condition of things absolutely unlike anything on the surface of the earth; indeed, the presence of such a rift, for this it appears to be, can only be compared with the long lunar rifts which have so long puzzled astronomers. To Professor Suess, the eminent geologist of Vienna, is attributed the first demonstration that over large areas of the earth's surface the crust has been steadily breaking through in the direction of the earth's center, and that the crust has been torn and rifted throughout all time by the subsidence of earth blocks, and he, many [illegible] the probable ex- [illegible] trough.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1896.

DISSENSIONS IN THE OLD PARTIES

For four years or more it has been evident, except to the most stupid, that disintegrading elements, which the cohesiveness of names could not counteract, had crept into the old parties. This was manifested in Congress when Republicans united with Democrats to give legislative sanction to the suggestions and recommendations of President Cleveland, as in the case of the repeal of the Bullion Purchase Act and sustaining the veto of the Bland Seigniorage bill. It was also made apparent at the polls when over a million voters cut loose from the old parties and voted for General Weaver, and another million voters swung from the Republican party to Cleveland in 1892 and then back to the Republican party in 1894. Since then dissensions in the Democratic party on the financial question clearly indicate that an open rupture in the National convention at Chicago next July is inevitable, and recent events also point to a schism in the Republican ranks. Sixteen United States Senators, who have heretofore acted with the Republican party, have declared their independence of the gold trust and issued the following:

WHEREAS, The difference of exchange between silver standard countries and gold standard countries is equivalent to a bounty of 100 per cent on the products of the silver standard countries; and,

WHEREAS, The cost of production in the old world, and particularly in China and Japan, is less than products can be produced or manufactured in this country by American labor, without reducing our farmers, miners, merchants, manufacturers and industrial workers to the level of Chinese coolies; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we are in favor of rescuing the people of the United States from such impending danger by removing the difference of exchange between gold standard countries and silver standard countries by the only method possible, which is the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the independent action of the United States, and we are in favor of a tariff which shall be sufficient to equalize the cost of production in the United States and in European and Asiatic countries, and that the protection incident to such tariff shall be equally distributed in every section of the United States, and between the various products and industries of each State.

(Signed:) H. M. Teller, Francis E. Warren, Lee Mantle, George L. Shoup, J. C. Pritchard, Edward O Wolcott, John H. Mitchell, Frank J. Cannon, R. F. Pettigrew, Fred T. DeBois, H. C. Hansbrough, T. H. Carter, George C. Perkins, J. D. Cameron, C. P. Clark, Arthur Brown.

This resolution, which every farmer, workingman and business man in the United States ought to heartily indorse, has set Wall street and its minions to raving. The New York Tribune is thrown into spasms by the audacity of the sixteen Senators, though those Senators are simply declaring what they and their constituents know to be facts. They believe in rescuing the people of the United States from impending danger by removing the difference of exchange between gold standard and silver standard countries by the only method possible, and favor a tariff which shall be sufficient to equalize the cost of production in the United States and foreign countries. That is the hight of their offending, but it is sufficient cause in the opinion of the high priests of the Republican organization to read them out of the party. They have agreed that free coinage and tariff bills shall share the same fate, and that if Republicans in the House want the Dingley bill passed they must vote for a bill to free the country from the grasp of the gold trust.

The old parties are falling to pieces from their own rottenness, and if the people are not betrayed by their representatives at the People's party and National Silver Conventions at St Louis next July a fusion will be effected and a ticket nominated by the joint convention that will be elected by an overwhelming majority next November.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC REPORT.

The annual report of the Southern Pacific Company has been filed with the California Railroad Commissioners. The gross earnings of the company for the year 1895 are given as $35,848,000 and the operating expenses $23,797,596. Interest on funded debt on current liabilities, taxes, permanent improvements and other deductions leave a deficit of $56,219 for the entire system. The par value of the stock is in round numbers $178,000,000 and the real valuation $123,000,000. The par value of the bonds owned by the company is $4,500,000 and the real value $2,500,000. The company has 15,135 men in its employ and it paid in wages last year $12,343,000, which is included in the operating expenses.

According to this statement the company lost over $56,000 last year. If that is the case it is strange that Mr. Huntington should be so anxious to continue in the business. If the Central Pacific is losing money hauling freight for the public at rates which the people say are exhorbitant, why not turn the road over to the Government? It is admitted that the road is mortgaged for two or three times as much as it cost to build it, and as the Government is willing to take it for the debt, one would think that Mr. Hurtington would not object. For some cause he does object, however, and submits to the torturing questioning of Senator Morgan and all, it seems, to retain control of a road which owes more than it is worth, and like the National Administration under gold rule, has a deficit at the end of the year.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Coast Defenses in the Senate-The House Cuban Resolution Cheered.

WASHINGTON, February 27.—At the opening of the Senate to-day, Rev. Milburn, in a prayer, made an eloquent reference to the death of Mr. Shanklin, a veteran employe.

A breeze was caused by the introduction of a resolution authorizing the Committee on Coast Defenses to visit places requiring coast defenses and to send for persons, papers, etc. Cockrell thought that the resolution was very broad in allowing the committee to take a tour around the country. Squire, chairman of the committee, said that the only visit contemplated was to Sandy Hook. He consented to a modification of the resolution so that the committee's trip be limited to the defenses of New York City. It was adopted in this form. Proctor then addressed the Senate on coast defenses, claiming that it would be better and cheaper to provide land fortifications than to build a navy equal to that of Great Britain.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs, after a warm session of two hours, adopted a concurrent resolution declaring that it was the sense of Congress that a state of war existed in Cuba and that Cuban insurgents should be given the rights of beligerents, and that the Government of the United States should use its influence to stop the war by intervention if necessary; and pledging the support of Congress. The resolution was greeted with cheers when read in the House, and Sulzer asked for the unanimous consent that the resolution be made a special order for Tuesday.

A Liberal Elected.

LONDON, February 27.—The election in Litchfield Division, Staffordshire, for Member of Parliament to succeed Henry C. Fulford, Liberal, unseated by the election judges on December 19th, by corrupt practices having been proved against him, resulted as follows: Warner, Liberal, 4,483; Major L. Darwin Liberal-Unionist, 3,955. Liberal majority, 528.

Refused to Change the Sentence.

CHICAGO, February 27.—Judge Grosscup declined to change the sentence of Joseph Dunlop, editor of the Dispatch, who was convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails and fined $1,000 and given two years in the penitentiary. The court informed his attorney that an appeal was left to the President.

Furniture Store Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 27.—A fire to-day gutted Jeremiah Noonan's furniture store on Mission and Sixth streets. The loss is $15,000 on the building and $30,000 on the contents. Noonan places his loss on the stock at $75,000.

Several thousand garment makers at Baltimore have gone out on strike because the Clothier's Board of Trade refuse to employ members of the Garment Worker's Union.

Martin Bell was carrying a piece of timber in a sawmill where he was employed at Linden, Oklahoma He slipped and fell against the saw and his head and both arms were cut off.

Rudolph Spreckles, youngest son of Claus Spreckles, the sugar king, has left San Francisco for Honolulu to face President Dole and his Cabinet, by whom he is charged with treason against the Hawaiian Republic.

Lord Dunraven's letter resigning his honorary membership in the New York Yacht Club has been made public. He said he was satisfied with the decision of the committee which had investigated his charges regarding the Defender.

A desperate street fight occurred at Rome, Georgia, between V. T. Sanford and Policeman Mulky. Mulky was killed. Ex-Sheriff Matthews was seriously wounded. Several innocent persons were wounded, among them a young lady.

Charles L. Colby, formerly President of the Wisconsin Central Railroad, addressed the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society at Newton Center, New York, and dropped dead immediately afterwards. He had been in poor health for some time, and his death resulted from heart disease.

J. C. Stubbs, General Traffic Manager of the Southern Pacific Company, appeared before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads yesterday and made a statement to prove that discriminating rates had not been made to divert traffic from the Central and Union Pacific to the Sunset route.

The House Committee on Foreign Relations, with only two dissenting votes, agree to report resolutions recognizing the Cuban insurgents as beligerents, and expressing the opinion that the only paramount solution of the contest between the Spaniards and the Cubans is in the establishment of a government of the choice of the people of Cuba.

Crawford and "The Kid," who robbed the bank and killed the cashier at Wichita Falls, Texas, were taken by a mob and lynched. It was proposed to burn them alive on the public square, but the mob was induced to change that order and hang them to a telegraph pole. The rangers who were guarding the prisoners were ordered to Amarillo and left them in charge of the local officers.

A session of the council which is investigating the charges against Rev. Dr. Brown came very near breaking up in a row. Dr. Brown became excited and denounced the Moderator as unfair, and said the council was taking advantage of him. Miss Overman burst into tears and there was a scene. Dr Brown's friends rushed to his side and tried to calm him. The Moderator wanted to know in what respect he had been unfair, and a war of words ensued. Finally Brown declared he would leave the council, and for a time there was great excitement. Finally Brown listened to the advice of friends and apologized to the council for his language. He said that he had been under great mental strain for the past 60 days, and that he might have said things in his excitement that he did not mean. Brown's statement was warmly applauded and his explanation was accepted by the council.

AYER—In Reno, February 27, 1896, to the wife of Leland S Ayer a son.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Indian Agent Hargrove of the Duck Valley Reservation has returned to Elko from a visit to Indiana. He tells the Independent that the silver question is talked of in hotels, the cars and everywhere in the East to the exclusion of every other political question. The leaders of both parties are opposed to silver, but the rank and file are in favor of it.

CONCERNING NEVADA IN CONGRESS.

Some comment has been made over Mr. Newlands and his recent silver speech and the refusal to extend his time. He had spoken twenty-five minutes and was in the middle of a very strong speech when the limitation of his time was reached. The record shows the following:

Mr. Dingley—Will the gentleman pardon me, because I am following his argument with interest, does he—

Mr. Speaker—The time of the gentleman from Nevada has expired.

Mr. Dingley—I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman's time be extended.

Mr. Doolittle—Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that his time be extended until he can complete his remarks.

Mr. Kern (Pop.)—I object.

Some of Cleveland's appointees, especially J. Sterling Morton and Controller Bowler, seem disposed to both own and run the Government independent of Congress and law, the suspension of seed distribution being one of the unauthorized acts of this administration. Congress roasted him in a manner that will suggest that he is a creature of the law rather than the law is his. Congress threatened to withhold his salary until he complied with the law, also to impeach him.

Another example of his gold cure tactics was the attempted suspension of the irrigation inquiry. He suggested its abolition. The Committee on Agricultural Appropriations followed his advice when the bill was being considered. Newlands, Long, Hartmann, Doolittle and Wilson made a vigorous fight and the appropriation, meagre as it is, was inserted. Mr. Newlands made a short but effective speech in its behalf.

The Japanese-Chinese industrial phase of the tariff and silver question is exciting great interest in the east. Mr. Newlands yesterday offered a resolution directing the Ways and Means Committee to examine into this question and report by bill or otherwise. He has been invited to address the Ways and Means Committee at length on this subject. He intends to prosecute this inquiry to a definite end. It is certainly one of the greatest problems that has presented itself for the consideration of the American people in recent years.

The Carson Mint question has been receiving much attention in committee recently. An attempt was made to effectually close it, but Congressman Newlands has been busily at work with the members of the sub-committee having it in charge. There has been a reduction in some of the salaries, and the utmost persuasion was necessary to prevent a complete dismantling. Mr. Newlands was prepared to make a vigorous defense on the floor if necessary.

It seems strange that any attempt should be made to close the Carson Mint. It is the only one in the heart of the mining region near a gold or silver mine. Nevada receives little or no aid from governmental sources. She has no rivers or harbors, and about the only public institution is the mint, which is for the use of the public and benefit of the Government.

Every Congress makes a target of the Carson Mint. Once an attempt was made to cut out the entire appropriation. The late Samuel J. Randall championed its cause at that time with the then member of Congress from Nevada. The Fifty-second Congress cut the appropriation in half, and Dockery and Bartine made a fight to save it. The closing of the mint in 1885 was an unauthorized act. It was a direct violation of law. An arbitrary assumption of power not unlike that being attempted by Cleveland's officers in this Administration. The due administration of law consists in its strict observance. Any autocratic assumption of power to violate the law or nullify its force is an act of tyrany. I would think that the American people have had enough of Grover Cleveland and his one man, one policy, one idea Administration.

The Funding Bill and Pacific Roads are beginning to occupy the attention of Congress, especially the Senate.

The Washington Post has been subsidized by Huntington forces and is making a stiff fight for the railroad interests. This question is going to be one of the most interesting of any to be considered at this session of Congress.

The Senate is attempting to increase the West Point cadets by the appointment of two cadets at large from each State. It is meeting with much favor.

SILVER MEN, COME OUT!

Words of Wisdom From the "Silver Knight."

We desire the attention of the silver men in the two old parties to what we now say. There can be no doubt that the great majority of you are sincere and honest in your advocacy of the restoration of the money of the Constitution by the equal coinage of the two metals, and you undoubtedly regard the Silver Knight-Watchman as unreasonable when we call you goldbugs. You know very well that there can be no relief from the intolerable horrors of gold contraction until we can elect a President of the United States who is in favor of the people of this country and against the rule of Wall and Lombard streets. You also know that you have in every Presidential election since Sherman demonetized silver assisted in the election of a gold President. You have voted for no other. Those among you who are regarded as leaders declare your intention to do the same in the campaign of 1896 and you have not signified your intention to oppose the election of a goldite for President if the national convention of your party shall pursue its usual custom and nominate an agent of the money powers. We would like to discriminate between those of you who desire to aid monetary reform but do not see our way clear to accomplish your desires, and those of you who with a lie on your lips tell the people that you are in favor of the restoration of the money of the Constitution while you are receiving or expect to receive from the party to which you belong either money or office.

All of you who stay in the old parties are serving in the ranks of the enemy, and those of you who are honest in your actions are subjected to the same suspicions and liable to the same punishment as those who are designedly working for the Rothschild combination to rob the wealth producers of the country. We can no more distinguish between which of you is maliciously wicked, and those of you who serve in the ranks of the wicked without any special desire to injure your neighbor or serve the enemy. In a great battle each side fires upon the enemy's ranks. It is impossible to discriminate between the innocent and guilty of those who are serving the enemy and fighting the friends of reform. We shall hereafter treat every man who remains in either of the old gold parties as a goldite, because we regard him as more dangerous than an avowed enemy. He is a secret foe; if not in principle, in practice; he is recruiting for the enemy; he is serving as a sort of decoy duck to lead the unwary into the trap of the iniquities conceived by Rothschild and his co conspirators, who are known to be enemies of the human race. If you have no desire to injure your country, come out from among those who support the agents of gold monopoly, whether they be gold Republicans or Democrats. "Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you."—II Cor. 6:17.

Whatever Sousa does is done with a master's hand and brain, and his band is in superb form. Miss Myrta French, soprano, and Miss Currie Duke, violinist, two young artists of rare talents, will accompany Mr. Sousa and his peerless organization.

The Chicago Lady Quartette will appear here on the evening of March 11th for the benefit of the gymnasium fund. The quartette is composed of artists and a splendid program will be presented. Miss Nettie M. Jackson, humorist and impersonator, is with the company and is said to be one of the most entertaining, unique and refined specialists in this line on the road. Large audiences greet the company wherever they play and are always more than pleased.

The Wonder Worker.

Don't fail to see Miss Anna Eva Fay in her wonderful performance at the Opera House to-morrow evening. Those who have seen her are fairly astonished at her mysterious exhibition. She is truly a wonder worker and while she does not pretend to answer every question presented to her, she will answer from 80 to 85 per cent. Secure your seats at Lake's book store.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

The White Pine News says that several cases of smallpox are reported among the Indians around Ely.

Those who believe the silver question is not a very live issue must, like Collins' ram, be "wonderfully sot in their ways."

The Belmont Courier learns that Messrs. Kaurohat and Stebbins have uncovered a very rich body of ore in their mine in Jefferson District. We hope that the find will make rich men of them.

The Sacramento Bee says this is going to be a great year for men who are politicians by trade, for the people will be called upon to select men for every office—from Township Constable up to the President of the United States.

Senator Teller said in the Senate that it was known when the Dingley Tariff bill was introduced in the House that it could not pass, and its supporters said publicly that it was introduced for the purpose of political advantage.

The Belmont Courier says the grass on Corcoran's ranch in Monitor Valley is six inches high and the alfalfa about three inches high. If the weather continues fine Mr. Corcoran believes that he will be engaged in haymaking before spring opens.

James Hickey, for several years foreman of the Bodie and Standard mines, and now foreman of a group of mines at Silver Peak, tells the Hawthorne Bulletin that an English syndicate has just arranged to take those properties, put in extensive machinery and build great chlorination works. They will spend in all, he says, from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

George Turley shot and killed George Cole in Bodie last Saturday. No immediate cause for the shooting is known. Cole is a musician and had been playing for a dance Friday night. After the dance he went to his cabin to retire, and in a few minutes Turley knocked at his door. When Cole opened the door he received the contents of both barrels of a shotgun, and was horribly mutilated. It is said to have been a most cruel and unprovoked assassination.

The Grand Jury.

In the partial report submitted by the Grand Jury Lee Brooks was indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses, and Ben Pierce was indicted as an escaped prisoner.

The charge against A. A. Smith for administering poison with intent to kill was ignored.

The Grand Jury was in session all day yesterday and several persons were summoned and testified regarding certain matters in question.

Committees were appointed and the same are busy attending to the duties assigned them It will probably take several days before a full report will be submitted.

A Lively Runaway.

An Italian's two horse team took a spin down Virginia street yesterday morning, creating some little excitement. They scooted across the bridge and struck the electric light pole south of the Riverside Hotel, throwing the driver out of the wagon, but he pluckily hung to the lines and finally succeeded in stopping the runaways. The only damage that occurred was a little broken harness and a patch of skin knocked off of the driver's forehead.

Inception of Fish Hatching.

During the middle ages, and throughout the period of the European predominance of the church of Rome, the necessity of providing a proper supply of fish for use on Fridays and during Lent did much to create a species of fish culture. That this did not extend to fish hatching, but stopped short at inclosing and regulating the supply of fresh water fishes, seems to us probable. At the same time, the Romans were at least acquainted with the seeming of oyster spat, and from this to the artificial hatching of fish ova does not seem a very long step or one that may not really have been taken. The probability is, however, that the cost of such artificially produced fish would have been far beyond the purses of the multitude, and the wealthy had viviers and ponds in which they kept their own fish for their own use.

The extent to which they have gone may be judged by the system in use among the monks of the monasteries and the great seigneurs of the continent, which was also introduced into this country, probably by the Normans originally. The absence of proper conveyances for the supply of sea fish to the inland parts of the country made it imperative for the various proprietors to meet their own necessities. In doing so they did not fail to discover that certain fishes required a particular kind of "caliche" upon which to fix their spawn. As the supply of this material was an acknowledged necessity this may be considered the first step toward fish hatching.—Scottish Review.

The Ways of the Fijians.

The national character of Fiji finds its best expression in the songs once common among the natives, but now, under Christian influences, almost obsolete. These songs, or mekkes, as they are called, generally recount the story of some ancient hero, of some military campaign or naval expedition, or perhaps of a peaceful fishing excursion. They are generally sung of evenings by the men only, who assemble for the purpose in one of their long, low huts. Here they sit in solemn state on mats laid upon the ground, the only light being that of a smoky fire in one end. According to Major Abercrombie, an eyewitness of the ceremony, one man begins the chant alone; a second soon joins him, then a few more, till finally all present have taken it up, accompanying the wild music by much pantomime and earnest gesticulation. The time is beaten upon a wooden drum by one of their number, and is occasionally accentuated by a general clapping of the hands. After a certain climax has been reached the music stops quite abruptly with one loud clap.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ingenuity a la Bordelaise.

At Bordeaux recently a wine merchant, whose business success was about in keeping with the bad quality of his wares, decided on a bold stroke. Every day he assiduously sought out a complete list of deaths of the well to do in the town, and also the date and hour of the funeral. He then wrote a letter to the deceased, thanking him for the order he had received, and at the very hour that the relatives were assembled at the house for the funeral his dray arrived with a quantity of wines and spirits. The bill was always paid, no one suspecting that he was being made the victim of an ingenious trick and quite convinced that the dead relative had given the order.—Galignani Messenger.

Character.

Character is like stock in trade; the more of it a man possesses the greater his faculties for making additions to it. Character is power—is influence; it makes friends, creates funds, draws patronage and support, and opens a sure and easy way to wealth, honor and happiness.—J. Hawes.

Sunday Observance In Boston.

No more "work of convenience" on Sunday. Work of "necessity or charity" may still be performed. Under which class does preaching come?—Boston Traveller.

The Other Side.

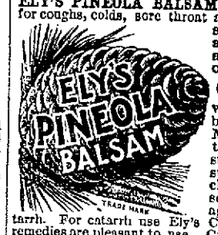

First Vestryman—It must make a clergyman feel very unhappy to discover that he has outlived his usefulness in a parish.

Second Vestryman—Not so unhappy as it makes the people when he doesn't discover it.—New York Tribune.

COUGHS and COLDS

ELY'S PINEOLA BALSAM is a sure Remedy for coughs, colds, sore throat and for asthma. It soothes, quickly abates the cough, and renders expectoration easy.

Consumptives will invariably derive benefit from its use. Many who suppose their cases to be consumption are only suffering from a chronic cold or deep seated cough, often aggravated by catarrh. For catarrh use Ely's Cream Balm. Both remedies are pleasant to use. Cream Balm, 50 cts. per bottle; Pineola Balsam, 25c. Sold by Druggists.

Success In Society.

The secret of success in society is a certain heartiness and sympathy. A man who is not happy in company cannot find any word in his memory that will fit the occasion; all his information is a little impertinent. A man who is happy there finds in every turn of the conversation occasions for the introduction of what he has to say. The favorites of society are able men, and of more spirit than wit, who have no uncomfortable egotism, but who exactly fill the hour and company, contented and contenting.—Emerson.

Masters of the World.

Simple words, short maxims, homely truths, old sayings, are the masters of the world. Great reformations, great revolutions in society, great eras in human progress and improvement, start from good words, right words, sound words, spoken in the fitting time, and finding their way to human hearts as easily as the birds find their homes.—D. March.
